EDITORIAL COMMENT.

SENSELESS COMPARISONS.

Representative Towney in a speech the other day in Congress gave some figures of the cost of the military establishments of England, France, Germany and the United States. The figures are condensed in the following:

On account of preparation for war the United States, with an army of 52,000 men and a navy of 42,000 men, is expending this year only $66,473,701.18 less than England, with an army of 204,300 men and a navy of 129,000 men.

That the United States is expending for this purpose only $35,869.03 less than Germany, with her army of 600,000, and her navy of 62,000 men.

The United States is expending for this purpose in excess of the amount expended by France, with her army of 550,000 men and her navy of 56,285 men, $2,683,322.46.

A further comparison of the sums expended by these countries on account of preparation for war and on account of past wars shows the startling fact that we are expending more than any other nation in the world for both objects named. We are this year expending $84,975,238.75 more than England, $136,067,838.95 more than Germany and $152,859,926.46 more than France.

The best answer to that can be found in two items, says the Salt Lake Telegram. The first is that 1,250,000 people flocked to our shores from Europe last year, to better their condition. The other is that 150,000 American tourists went to Europe last year to spend their surplus money.

Old Menelik has an army of 30,000 men, and at last accounts he was not out a cent for military expenses last year, unless he bought for himself a sword. Germany trains her male population to arms and clothes them while under training, and if in garrison feeds them. It is the same way with France. It would be good if that were the rule here. It costs much less to build battleships abroad than at home because the chief cost of a warship is labor, and this country pays twice the wages paid abroad. The question is not one of comparative cost; it is, "Is there extravagance on this side?" Is the pauper pay of a United States soldier too much? Are the wages paid in our steel works and shipyards too high? If not, then instead of tearfully parading those comparative figures, we should sing a joy song that labor in this country receives a generous reward compared with that received in lands beyond the sea. The earnings of the masses of men in Berlin are less than $243 per year each. Ten of thousands do not earn half that amount. Tens of thousands of university bred men in Germany would be thankful to take Mr. Towney's place in Congress at one-fourth his salary. A man can sometimes juggle figures and have them on their face correct, and after all establish the truth that all his efforts are to so state facts as to carry to those who listen false impressions.

MRS. MARTIN ACTS AS OWN LAWYER

OAKLAND, April 29.—The preliminary examination of Mrs. Isabella Martin on the charge of dynamiting the home of Superior Judge Ogden was again continued by Police Judge Mortimer Smith this morning on account of the absence of Judge A. L. Frick, attorney for the defense. Thursday, April 30, is the date appointed for the hearing.

Mrs. Martin acted as her own attorney this morning and when the case was called arose with perfect composure and addressed the court.

"May I please your honor," she said, in the tones of a practiced attorney, "my counsel is again absent this morning for reasons unknown to myself and I must ask you to continue the case until Thursday."

District Attorney Hall of Trinity county, who prosecuted Mrs. Martin on a charge of arson in Weaver ville, was acting as associate counsel for the prosecution.

"If Mr. Hall has no objection," began Judge Smith, but Mrs. Martin interrupted in tones of biting sarcasm.

"I am perfectly willing to dispense with Mr. Hall's presence," she announced and the spectators tittered.

District Attorney Hall smiled appreciatively and informed the court that he would offer no objection to the continuance, which was accordingly allowed.

WIFE MURDERER HANGED.

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 29.—W. W. McDonald of England was hanged here today for the murder of his common law wife, Beulah Hyslop, whose throat he cut after discovering she had been receiving letters from a man in England. An appeal by Ambassador Bryce failed to prevent the execution.

CROKER TAKES A FLING AT HUGHES

DUBLIN, April 29.—"Mr. Hughes' action in reference to the gambling bill should injure his prospects as a politician. Why cannot such men keep out of that rut? Is not all life a gamble? Is not Mr. Hughes' politics a gamble? But they select the part of the gamble that is pleasant and gives pleasure and propose to realize."

Such is the statement made today by Richard Croker, the former boss of Tammany, and now a resident of Ireland. Croker refused to commit himself further in regard to the fight that is being waged to kill the racing game in New York, but from the comment he made on Hughes it is taken that his sympathies are strongly with the men who favor betting on races.

GEORGE BARTLETT IS IN THE RACE

For some time a number of his political opponents in the Democratic party have been trying to create the impression that Congressman Bartlett intended to refuse to be a candidate this fall for the office he now occupies. To prove the untruth of this rumor, the Reno Gazette wired its Washington correspondent to interview Mr. Bartlett, and this afternoon the following telegram was received:

"Washington, April 28, 1908.
"Gazette, Reno, Nev.—Bartlett denies emphatically published statements that he will not be a candidate to succeed himself. Expects endorsement of his party by renomination."

LOOK AROUND YOUR OFFICE

For ledgers, daybooks, in fact for anything that may be lacking in your office, go to the Bonanza bindery. We have samples of the style of work which is turned out, but for the matter of that one does not have to visit the bindery. There are samples of our work in nearly all the offices in the city.

Our work stands as the best recommendation of the character of the stuff that we turn out. We can do anything in our line that can be done in any of the big cities, can do it as well, and give better service in the matter of prompt delivery than any other institution of the kind in the State.

GOOD SOCIETY.

The agent for a cemetery company was expatiating on the good points of a certain lot. Presently the prospective purchaser interrupted with the enumeration of several prominent families owning property there.

"Is this lot near theirs?" she asked.

The agent admitted that it was quite a distance off.

"Then," said the woman, "I don't want it. I'd rather pay more and get in a good neighborhood."

The agent collapsed.

"Has it come to the point," he said, "where people consider their next-door neighbors even in a graveyard?"—New York Sun.

FLUENT CURIOSITY.

Killeen (after ordering the largest beer in the house)—"An" is that the largest beer ye give a mon for foive cints?

Barkeep (sarcasmically)—"Vot you expect fer a nickel—a kaag?"

Killeen—Shure, an' O'm puzzled to know if O'd ordered a short beer whether ye would hov placed it on me tongue wid a medicine dropper or jist sprayed me throat out wid an anafimizer.—Judge.

THEN WE'D HEAR THINGS.

"It's in the world of politics," said the talkative man, "that the truth of the old saying 'money talks' is most frequently proved."

"Yes," replied the wise citizen, "but if hush money would only talk what sensations we would have!"—Exchange.

WANTED A CHANGE.

The Rector—And how would you like to be a clergyman when you grow up, Tommy?

The Boy—Not for me! I'm sick of wearin' things—that button at the back.—Metropolitan Magazine.

This ledge, 2½ feet wide, is phenomenally rich and eight inches of it contains specimen ore that will run into the thousands of dollars to the ton, the balance averaging about $200 to the ton. There is a custom mill within a mile of the property that will treat our ore for $4 per ton, thus insuring a big profit. The officers and directors of the company are men of the highest standing in Nevada. Henry J. Bartlett, owner of the Round Mountain Nugget and heavily interested in different Round Mountain properties; James W. Travers, a pioneer of the district and also heavily interested in many properties there, and Mr. Gibbons, a well-known Tonopah attorney, while Messrs.
